Issue Statement	El Paso Water will deliver its annual report on the state of the stormwater utility, including updates on completed projects and flood control improvements throughout the city.
Background	After the historic flooding of Storm 2006, the stormwater utility was created to address the city's lack of flood control infrastructure. Since it was entrusted to El Paso Water, the stormwater utility has made significant progress in building and maintaining a vast stormwater system across the city that has improved public safety, protected thousands of homes and businesses and helped the city maintain operations during rain events.
