

EL PASO
MUSEUM OF HISTORY

Museum Accession Nominations 2024 Part III

Gifts recommended for Accession into EPMH Permanent Collection

- Gift from Shiloh Baptist Church – Items from the Still We Rise Exhibition
- Gift from Diana Duron – Early El Paso History ephemera and postcards from El Baile de los 41 pop-up exhibition
- Gift from The Ahn Family – Korean Diaspora Collection from the El Paso's Homegrown: Korean War exhibition
- Gift from Dolores Duran – Western Playland promotional mug

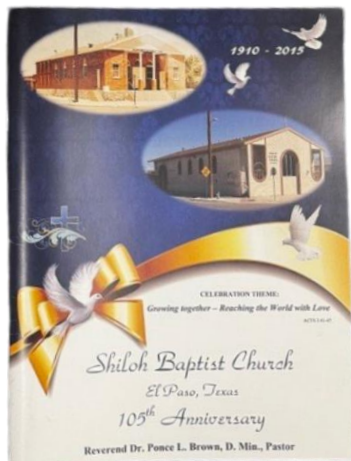

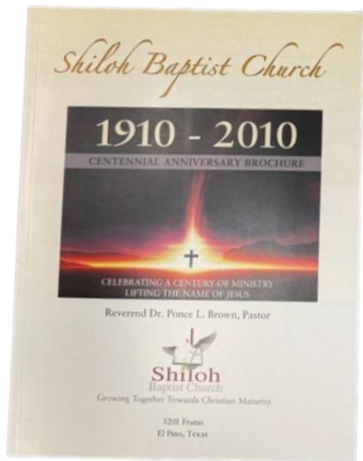

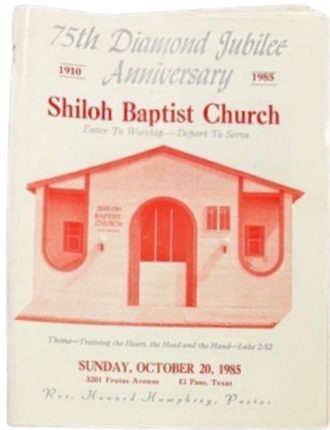

Gift from Shiloh Baptist Church – Items from the Still We Rise Exhibition

*This lot is in good condition and fit in our photograph, furnishings, and People's History collections. These items would be the first additions to our Black History collection.

Gift from Shiloh Baptist Church – Items from the Still We Rise Exhibition

*These programs are in excellent condition and fit in the Black History collection

Gift from Shiloh Baptist Church – Items from the Still We Rise Exhibition

*This items are in excellent condition and fit in the Black History collection

Gift from Shiloh Baptist Church – Items from the Still We Rise Exhibition
*This furnishing is in excellent condition and fits in the Black History and furnishings collection

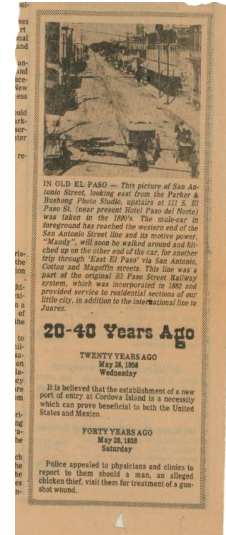

Gift from Shiloh Baptist Church – Items from the Still We Rise Exhibition
*This photograph is in excellent condition and fits in the Black History and photograph collection

Gift from Diana Duron – Early El Paso History ephemera

*This lot is in good condition and fits in our Early El Paso, Postcards, Newspaper, People's History, Mexican History, Jake Erlich, and El Paso's Homegrown Collections

Erlich, El Paso's Biggest Citizen, Dies At 46

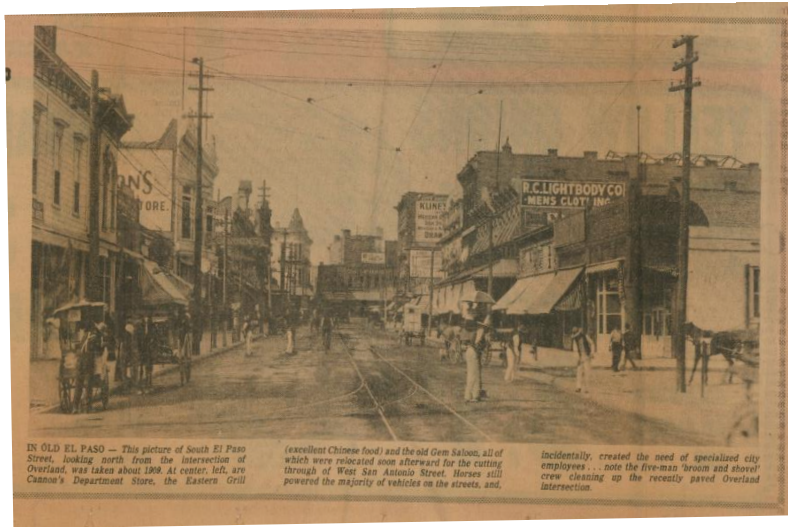

Gift from Diana Duron – Early El Paso History ephemera

*These postcards are in good condition and fit in the Early El Paso, Postcards, and Mexican History collection

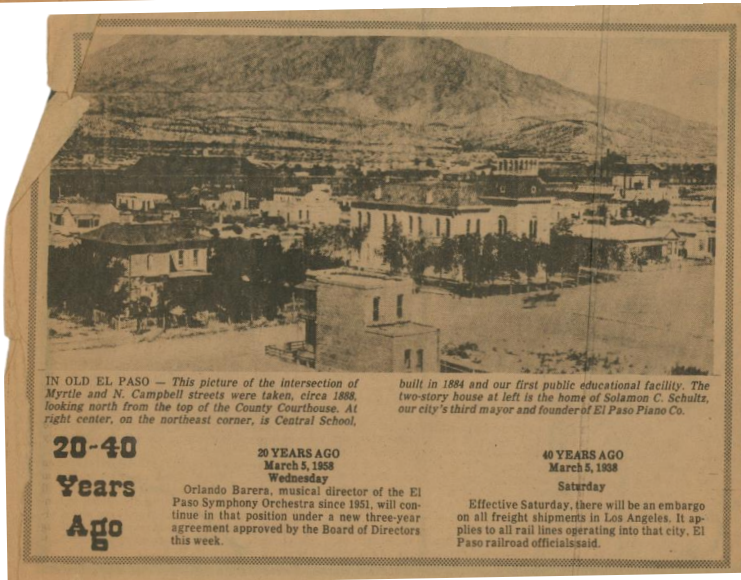

Gift from Diana Duron – Early El Paso History ephemera

*This newspaper clippings are in good condition and fit in the Early El Paso, Newspaper, and Jake Erlich collections

IN OLD EL PASO — This picture of South El Paso Street, looking north from the intersection of Overland, was taken about 1899. At center, left, are Cannon's Department Store, the Eastern Grill (excellent Chinese food) and the old Gem Saloon, all of which were relocated soon afterward for the cutting through of West San Antonio Street. Horses still powered the majority of vehicles on the streets, and, incidentally, created the need of specialized city employees... note the five-man 'broom and shovel' crew cleaning up the recently paved Overland intersection.

IN OLD EL PASO — This picture of the intersection of Myrtle and N. Campbell streets were taken, circa 1888, looking north from the top of the County Courthouse. At right center, on the northeast corner, is Central School, built in 1884 and our first public educational facility. The two-story house at left is the home of Solomon C. Schultz, our city's third mayor and founder of El Paso Piano Co.

20-40 Years Ago

20 YEARS AGO
March 5, 1888
Wednesday
 Orlando Barrera, musical director of the El Paso Symphony Orchestra since 1951, will continue in that position under a new three-year agreement approved by the Board of Directors this week.

40 YEARS AGO
March 5, 1888
Saturday
 Effective Saturday, there will be an embargo on all freight shipments in Los Angeles. It applies to all rail lines operating into that city, El Paso railroad officials said.

Erlich, El Paso's Biggest Citizen, Dies At 46

Jake Erlich, El Paso's tallest citizen, in his last picture. It was taken in Hotel Dieu on June 5 when he was undergoing a physical checkup.—(Times Staff Photo)

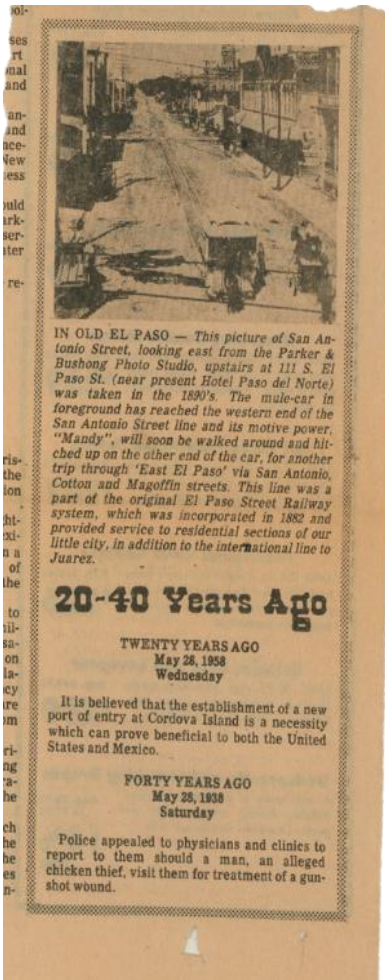

This picture was taken when El Paso's future giant was 6. At that time he was of normal height for his peers.

A favorite outfit was the Western attire that Jake wore during his circus appearances. The high-heeled boots and Western hat accentuated his normal height. During those days he was known as Jack Korie.

Jake Erlich in his ROTC uniform taken in front of El Paso High School in the 1890s. He was a member of the band.

El Paso's "Big Boy," Jake Erlich, (center), tells goodbye to Sheriff Tom Armstrong (left) and Chief Deputy Ed Roche in 1936 as he prepared to leave for New York to join the Ringling Bros. circus for the season. Jake held a deputy's commission.

Harry Humphrey, 6, (right) looks up in wonderment at Jake Erlich as he registered with a hotel clerk in Chicago in 1846.—(AP Photo)

IN OLD EL PASO — This picture of San Antonio Street, looking east from the Parker & Bushong Photo Studio, upstairs at 111 S. El Paso St. (near present Hotel Paso del Norte) was taken in the 1890's. The mule-cart in foreground has reached the western end of the San Antonio Street line and its motive power, "Mandy", will soon be walked around and hitched up on the other end of the car, for another trip through "East El Paso" via San Antonio, Cotton and Magoffin streets. This line was a part of the original El Paso Street Railway system, which was incorporated in 1882 and provided service to residential sections of our little city, in addition to the international line to Juarez.

20-40 Years Ago

TWENTY YEARS AGO
May 28, 1958
Wednesday
 It is believed that the establishment of a new port of entry at Cordova Island is a necessity which can prove beneficial to both the United States and Mexico.

FORTY YEARS AGO
May 23, 1938
Saturday
 Police appealed to physicians and clinics to report to them should a man, an alleged chicken thief, visit them for treatment of a gunshot wound.

Gift from Diana Duron – Early El Paso History ephemera

*This set of ephemera is in good condition and fit in the People's History and El Paso's Homegrown Collections

Gift from The Ahn Family – Korean Diaspora Collection

*This lot is in excellent condition and fit in our Asian Diaspora, Historic Textiles, and Education collections

Gift from The Ahn Family – Korean Diaspora Collection

*These textiles are in excellent condition and fit in the Asian Diaspora, Historic Textiles, and Education Collections

Gift from The Ahn Family – Korean Diaspora Collection

*These figurines are in excellent condition and fit in the Asian Diaspora and Education Collections

Gift from The Ahn Family – Korean Diaspora Collection

*These figurines are in excellent condition and fit in the Asian Diaspora and Education Collections

Gift from The Ahn Family – Korean Diaspora Collection

*These Decoratives are in excellent condition and fit in the Asian Diaspora and Education Collections

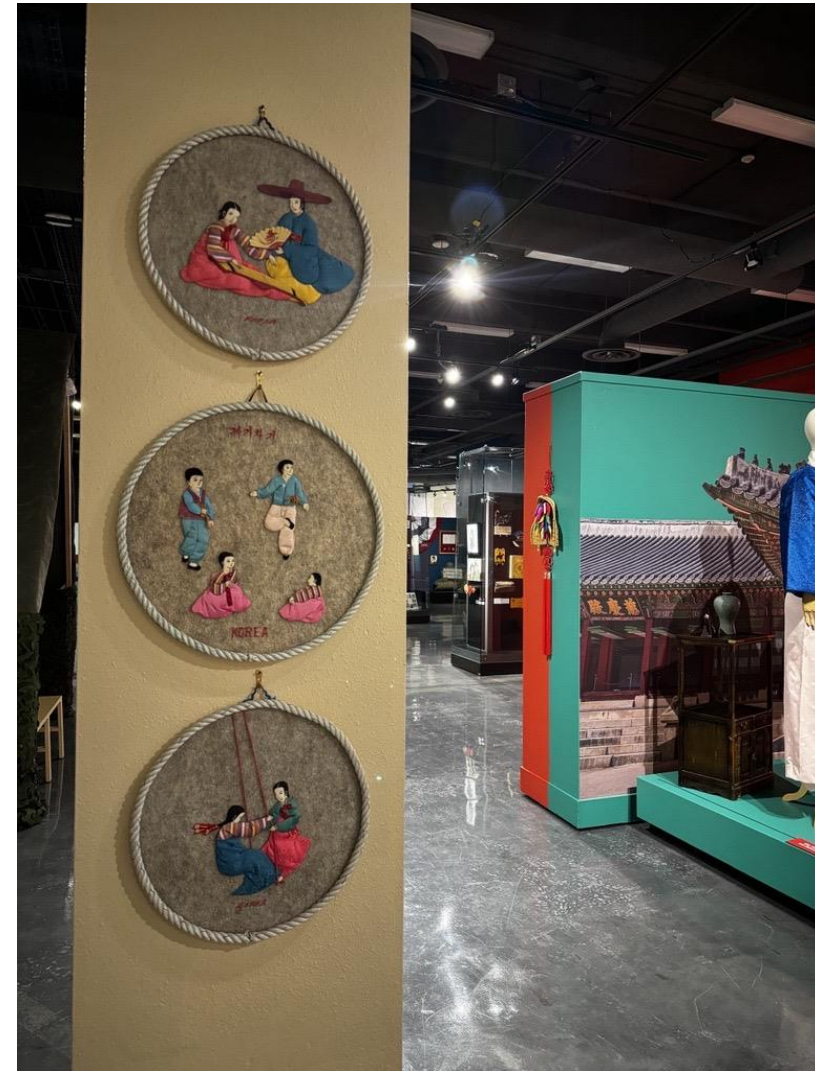

Gift from The Ahn Family – Korean Diaspora Collection

*These Decoratives are in excellent condition and fit in the Asian Diaspora and Education Collections

Gift from The Ahn Family – Korean Diaspora Collection

*These Decoratives are in excellent condition and fit in the Asian Diaspora and Education Collections

Gift from Dolores Duran – Western Playland promotional mug
*This lot is in excellent condition and fits in our Contemporary Borderlands, Tourism and Entertainment collection

Questions?